Here is an excerpt from the book:

“Ona stood at the edge of the forest, her heart pounding in her chest. She had been running for hours, and her legs were screaming for rest. But she couldn't stop. She had to keep going, for her life depended on it.

Behind her, she could hear the sound of heavy footsteps. The Nazis were closing in, and she knew that if they caught her, she would be killed.

Ona stumbled and fell, her ankle twisting beneath her. She cried out in pain, and the sound echoed through the silent forest. She knew that she couldn't run any further. She was trapped.

As the footsteps grew louder, Ona closed her eyes and waited for the end. But then, she heard something unexpected. It was the sound of a voice, singing softly.

Ona opened her eyes and saw a young German soldier standing over her. He was tall and handsome, with kind eyes.

"Don't be afraid," he said. "I'm not going to hurt you."

Ona stared at him in disbelief. She had never met a German soldier who wasn't cruel and heartless.

"Why?" she asked.

"Because I'm not like the others," he said. "I'm not a Nazi. I'm just a man who wants to help."

Ona hesitated for a moment, but then she reached out and took his hand.

Together, they walked away from the forest, and into the unknown."”

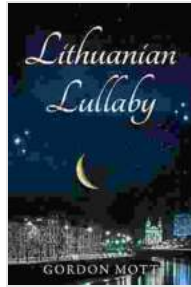

Lithuanian Lullaby is a powerful and moving novel that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. It is a story of love, loss, and redemption that will touch your heart and inspire you to believe in the power of hope.
